

European Trauma Course (ETC) is organized in Kuopio, Hotel Kunnonpaikka 28.-30.10.2020 by Finnish Trauma Association in co-operation with European Resuscitation Council.

ETC is an innovative course which emphasizes the team approach in the management of the seriously injured. It is aimed at doctors who are expected to lead and be members of trauma teams in their work set-up.

The course is mainly 'hands on' and runs over 2½ days. During the first 2 days various topics related to Trauma Resuscitation will be taught. Throughout the course candidates will actively participate in skill stations, workshops and scenario-based teaching - all of which reflect current European practice. During these scenarios candidates will have the opportunity to participate both as team leaders and team members on many occasions. Participants are expected to be familiar with Basic and Advanced Life Support and to have read the pre-course manual. On the third day there will be final practice workshops and assessments in the form of scenarios where the candidates are expected to show solid team leadership skills. Only successful candidates will be given certificates.

Most of the faculty is Finnish and consists of experienced doctors and nurses from various subspecialties. Course language is English but Finnish is used whenever feasible.

Course fee is 1250 € + VAT 24% = 1550 € including teaching, course material and manual, meals and coffee breaks mentioned in course program and course dinner. Course fee does not include accommodation and travel costs to the course venue.

If you want to join the course, send e-mail to heta.kujamaki@kuh.fi. Participants are limited to 24, so please act fast!
