Workcamp Life

- Camp Leader, is the person who manages and answers your questions. The camp leader will be the coordinator between international volunteers and local communities at the beginning of the camp. After some time, international volunteers will learn to communicate directly with the local hosts, even if we speak different languages. We welcome creative ideas to achieve the camp's goals.
- The Cooking and Cleaning Team volunteers will take turns cooking and cleaning.
- Eco-life
- volunteers are expected to stay in public spaces such as halls, temples, schools, homestays, forests, or depending on the project they have selected. We try to live as environmentally friendly as possible. This includes reducing plastic use, thinking before throwing something away, and trying to use organic products as part of our Eco-Life concept.
