PROJECT

As part of this program, the volunteers will work in intercultural programs, in the protection and dissemination of the crafts of the Ayacucho region. The volunteers will spend time with the artisans since the municipality together with the Ministry of Culture launched the conservation plan and value the work of the artisans. During the two weeks you will be working on the reconstruction for the opening of the craftsman's house, helping five hours a day from Monday to Friday.

This intercultural project contributes mainly to the development of Artisan families in poor rural areas and urban areas.

These 2 weeks will be fantastic to understand the culture and millennial traditions of the Wari dynasty, which is still very much alive in the region, while contributing to making society a better place to live for all. The Brigada de Voluntarios Bolivarianos del Peru Ayacucho subsidiary created this field of work to support the community in the maintenance and remodeling of the often neglected home of the artisans.

PROJECT'S ACTIVITIES

Volunteers will participate in the renovation of the artisan house, carrying out:

- Reconstruction and maintenance of the place.
- Participate in workshop classes offered by craft schools.
- Prepare posters and creative workshops for the public.
- Disseminate the work of artisans.

COMMUNITY CONTEXT

Ayacucho is located in the Andes of Peru to 566 km from Lima, 10 hours by bus and 1 hour by plane, it is at an altitude of 2,746 m. It is characterized by its pleasant, temperate and dry climate and is one of the most notable architectural and artistic ensembles in the country. Known as the "City of Churches" and "City of Majesty", Ayacucho has more than thirty churches and colonial temples of Renaissance, Baroque and mestizo styles, which keep inside true works of art such as paintings, images and beautiful carved altarpieces. in wood and bathed in gold leaf.

Ayacucho is also recognized internationally for its artistic manifestations, which is why it was declared the "Capital of Popular Arts and Crafts of Peru."

VOLUNTEER'S REQUIREMENTS

Volunteer in the project requires above all the ability to be flexible and adapt to local culture, and the ability to work as a team. The ease of interaction with children and young people will help you a lot, and the experience in cultural and artistic activities is also very welcome (music, dance, theater, etc.). Peru is a Spanish -speaking country, and communication in daily life is in Spanish. But you can participate in the activities with little Spanish. We require unless you try to learn Spanish, so you can integrate the community. It is not necessary to speak fluently and your Spanish will surely improve while you are here

HOST SITUATION

The volunteers will be accommodated in a house 30 minutes from Ayacucho. The house will be equipped with water, electricity, kitchen, laundry. Participants will share rooms. They will take care of preparing meals and cleaning the house. Do not forget some traditional foods, drinks and recipes, typical of your country of origin for the international evening.

BVBP 02*11TH INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL OF FOLKLORIC DANCES "SEMILLA FOLK 2023"*Center for Research and Cultural Promotion La Nueva Semilla*13 to 26 June 2023*12 volunteers*FEST / CULT*PROJECT

The festival is an experience of interculturality manifested in dance and will be held in different locations in Lima, with the purpose of paying tribute to the diversity of cultures in Peru and the world. The Semilla Folk Festival will be, like every year, free access and is aimed mainly at children, young people and people who do not have the opportunity to live a cultural experience.

AIMS OF THE PROJECT

Strengthen the cultural identity of Villa María del Triunfo and the recognition of our district as a point of culture at a national and international level, highlighting the cultural and tourist route that Villa María del Triunfo offers,

PROJECT'S ACTIVITIES

Our organization has been successfully carrying out 10 editions of the "Semilla Folk" Festival since 2010. The Festival consists of the presentation of traditional dances from each country; in addition to Peruvian Andean Fusions, a mixture of the urban with the Andean. In this new edition we will be accompanied by 4 international delegations: Mexico, Colombia, Ecuador and Poland, with a total of 150 foreign artists including dancers and musicians.

COMMUNITY CONTEXT

Villa María del Triunfo, is a district located in the southern area of Lima, it has an extensive territory and population. Likewise, it presents various problems, such as: delinquency and drug addiction (alcoholism, gangs, low self-esteem and depression) affecting mainly children, adolescents and young people, who are dragged into these problems due to lack of family communication, insufficient practice of values, lack of guidance, few job options and the absence of cultural spaces where they can develop activities that help them to better function in society.

VOLUNTEER'S REQUIREMENTS

Volunteer in the project requires above all the ability to be flexible and adapt to local culture, and the ability to work as a team. The ease of interaction with children and young people will help you a lot, and the experience in cultural and artistic activities is also very welcome (music, dance, theater, etc.). Peru is a Spanish -speaking country, and communication in daily life is in Spanish. But you can participate in the activities with little Spanish. We require unless you try to learn Spanish. It is not necessary to speak fluently and your Spanish will surely improve while you are here

VOLUNTEER TASKS

Volunteers will carry out various support activities in the scheduled artistic and cultural activities. These can be, for example, domestic activities (cleaning, cooking, common areas, etc.), as well as support in the logistics and promotion of the festival events.

HOST SITUATION The volunteers will be housed in a house with all basic services. It is necessary that the volunteers bring sleeping bag, and the food will be healthy

PARTICIPATION FEE

AWARENESS AND CLEANING OF THE VILLA MARÍA WETLAND

27 June to 11 July

12 volunteers

ENVI, EDU

PROJECT

We seek to raise awareness in the population about the care of the Villa María Wetland, which is a temperate marine-coastal ecosystem and is home to various varieties of birds, fish, food plants, and forest resources. It works as a resting, food and refuge area for many migratory birds that make intercontinental trips, looking for places to spend their non-breeding season in winter, however, it is in permanent risk due to the lack of care of the population and authorities, plastic waste, arson, etc.

PROJECT'S ACTIVITIES

- Promote and execute cleaning campaigns around the wetlands and also some community beaches.
  - Non-formal educational workshops and talks will be held in the city's schools to raise awareness about caring for the environment and its importance.
  - The volunteers together with the members of the project will organize an excursion to carry out a photographic and video session of the flora and fauna of the wetlands in order to have as a result an exhibition that will be offered to the community.
  - Hold a fair in the main square on environmental issues such as: recycling, compost, animal care, etc.
- Hours: Monday to Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 3:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m

COMMUNITY CONTEXT

The project will be developed in the District of Nuevo Chimbote, Province of Santa, Department of Ancash. It is located on the north coast of Peru, 360 km from Lima, so you can visit the beaches, the climate is mild and the city is quiet with very welcoming people.

VOLUNTEER'S REQUIREMENTS

Volunteer in the project requires above all the ability to be flexible and adapt to local culture, and the ability to work as a team. The ease of interaction with children and young people will help you a lot, and the experience in cultural and artistic activities is also very welcome (music, dance, theater, etc.).
