2.7. Principles of work

2.7.1. General Matter

- Dejavato will do its best to respect and follow the standard procedures and principals of work of the networks it is member of and cooperate with: the CCIVS and NVDA Inter-Regional Exchange procedures, the Alliance Guidelines and ICYE Guidelines. In general the Foundation will do its best to organize projects taking profit of the experience of its director, members and supporters. Please help us in organizing good quality projects by sending us your comments and those of your volunteers.
- During the project (starting from the arrival of the volunteers) Dejavato will do its best to support the volunteers and to facilitate constructive and educational experiences. However, our projects are organized according to Indonesian standards of living and culture and the volunteers will need to adapt to simple living conditions and local food. In our projects, such as in any Indonesian family, volunteers will eat rice three times a day, shower with cold water and use local style toilets.
- We expect the sending organisations to systematically provide the volunteers with our documentation (workcamp program, workcamp infosheet, national profile, travel guidance and volunteer agreement) and at least introduce International Voluntary Service fundamental principles. We recommend holding pre-departure trainings for your participants and introducing the basis of Intercultural learning and cultural diversity, non violent communication, problem solving, conflict management, and active participation to a voluntary service project. The philosophy of volunteerism is the base of our work here and we expect your volunteer to understand, share and participate to it actively.
- Most of our projects take place in villages or in closed contact with local Muslim communities and institutions. Drinking alcohol is not allowed / strictly prohibited in all circumstances under Dejavato's program especially when in the hosting family, at the project site or when volunteers are with children/students. Volunteers should be informed by their sending organization before departure and are requested to read our documents to find out more about the do's and do not's of Indonesian culture.

2.7.2. Principles for group project (workcamp)

- All the projects presented in this brochure are international projects. We try to reach a maximum cultural diversity and gender balance in the composition of our groups but you might find more than 2 volunteers from the same country in the same project.
- All volunteer can apply Visa on Arrival

- All our projects are open to volunteer who are from 18 - 35 years old when the workcamp starts. Above 35 years old upon consultation.
- We are sorry NOT open for volunteer with many causes and conditions which can impair mobility and movement such as inability to use legs, arms, or the body trunk effectively because of paralysis, stiffness, pain or other impairment is common. People with mobility and movement impairments may find it difficult to participate when facing social and physical barriers especially in our project sites.
- We are NOT open for any mentally challenged participants and participants who had mentally challenged record due to lack of our capability in handling the people with mental disabilities. Our project also do not have facilities which can support participants with mental disabilities. We request the sending organization to be open, transparent in giving information about the participant's health and mental record. We prefer not to host the participants with mentally challenged and mentally challenged record such as autism, mental disabilities etc.
- The volunteers are expected to attend the whole duration of the project and any delays in the arrival or departure MUST be officially justified and announced in advance. The incoming officer and the camp leader will keep the right to cancel the inscription of a volunteer or not accept her/him on the camp for any unjustified or not announced delay superior to 24 hours after the arrival day. In most cases, the meeting point for the volunteers is at the project site or other city which is the closest to the project site. Late arrivals may complicate the arrangement of the travel to the project site. Dejavato likes to organize something for the volunteers to do as a group during their free time and weekends. This will be discussed during the orientation and the first days of the project. Depending on the activity, volunteers may need to cover their own expenses. Please inform your participants that personal plans should be only foreseen before or after the workcamp.
- All the volunteers are required to individually subscribe a private insurance for the whole duration of the project, covering third party liability, health care and repatriation. A proof of the subscription, will be required at the beginning of the camp by our camp leader. No exception will be allowed. Thanks to inform your volunteer in advance.
- The basic timetable on Dejavato's camps is about 30-35 hours of work per week, generally from Monday to Friday, but the necessities of the project can bring the volunteers to work some more (rarely less).
- The common languages of the workcamps will be English and Indonesian (bahasa). We encourage volunteers to learn a bit of basic Indonesian before arrival (please refer to our info sheets and info pack for more information). Low levels of English language should not discourage motivated volunteers as, in communication, "When there's a will, there's a way"
- In most of the projects, daily timetable and tasks, free time and global organization will be decided in common, facilitated by the coordinator following the needs of the project, and managed in teams. We expect on each workcamp to create a really strong team of volunteers, for the benefit of the project and the local community.
- There will always be at least one English-speaking Indonesian coordinator per camp and for the whole duration of the project and the volunteers will have an emergency number active 24/24 – 7/7 to use in case of major problem.
- In order to monitor, control, and evaluate for preventing an increase in the transmission of COVID-19 including the new and future variants of SARS-Cov-2, the Government of Indonesia has implemented a policy to enter Indonesia. All international travelers (foreign national) who will enter the territory of the Republic of Indonesia shall make readjustments with regards to their travel documents, to ensure compliance with the provisions regarding categories of foreign nationals allowed to enter Indonesia. The visa should be Social Culture Visit Visa Type B211A which should be applied by the hosting organization / Dejavato. The visa will valid for 60 days and can be extended two times for maimum stay 6 months (180 days). If the volunteer wants to stay over 6 months to 12 months, the possible visa will be needed by approval of the immigration office in Indonesia. DJ-2311 08/1/2024 – 16/1/2024 Elephant Conservation Way Kambas Lampung ANIMAL CONSERVATION

Background: Currently the conflict between elephants and human are rising because they have less area to live. Elephants are being squeezed into smaller area, since the local farmer plant the crops and elephants like to destroy and eat them. As a result, the elephants frequently raid and destroy the crops which will cause a conflict between human and elephant. Due to this reason, local government and organization which concerns about the wild life are working together to save or conserve the elephants and reduce the conflict. This project aiming to assist local governmental office named Way Kambas National Park which located in Elephant Conservation Centre to conserve the sanctuary.

Our project IS NOT a safari place, but it is mostly as a place for elephant conservation which facing problem of critical decreasing population and threats due to illegal lodging which endanger their life. The PKG is located inside and managed by the Balai Taman Nasional Way Kambas / BTNWK (Way Kambas National Park) covering round 1.300 square kilometers in Lampung Province, Southern Sumatera Island. The park consists of swamp forest and lowland rain forest. There are around 60 elephants with 60 mahouts for each (1 mahout responsible for 1 elephant). All of the elephants in the PKG are chained when they were in the stall during the night. The purpose of putting chain in one of their legs is for monitoring, handle the elephants when they are stress, to distinguish between the PKG's elephants and the wild one. The mahout using special tool called “gancu” (little iron hammer with curve point) to handle the elephant. The way how to use the gancu is by touching gently behind the elephant’s ear and sometimes on its head.

Work: Volunteer will help local mahout (a person who takes care and train an elephant) daily to take care the elephant starting from bathing/showering, feeding, health checking and grassing the elephant. One local mahout will be accompanied by one volunteer in doing his daily job.

Study theme: The volunteers could learn about the animal’s life and how local people take care of and handle the conservation.

Leisure Time: During free time, the volunteers will have opportunity to enjoy exciting attraction in Lampung such as beach, home industry, traditional market and fruit plantation.

Accommodation: The volunteers will be accommodated in Elephant Conservation Centre / kind of dormitory (basic conditions, sleeping bag and mat needed). Food will be provided with catering service. Also the volunteers will stay at the homestay in the village nearby the conservation center. Prefer no vegan (strict vegetarian)

Location: Elephant Conservation Center, Way Kambas National Park, Lampung province, Sumatera Island.

Terminal: Raden Inten II Airport (TKG) Lampung.

Special Requirement: As the participants will stay and live in the area of PKG and BTNWK, then everybody should be open minded, understand and accept the way of local mahout in taking care of the elephants and MUST follow all the project regulations without any exceptions. The volunteer accept all the rules and condition of the project which listed on the preliminary information of the workcamp (attached).
