Historically, only normal results from data submitted to the OFA were reported in the public domain (semi-open databases). The OFA provides owners the choice of reporting information in an open database. The open database provides all information, normal and abnormal, in the public domain.

If your animal received an abnormal result and you would like to release that information to the public domain, please complete the form below. This would happen most commonly with abnormal results on forms where owners did not check the box to release information to the public but who have now decided to do so.

The CHIC program requires even abnormal results released to the public for qualification for a CHIC Number.

If your animal received an OFA certificate with an OFA #, there is no need to change the status.

If you choose to change the status of your abnormal results from semi-open (not released to the public) to open (released to the public), please print, complete, and sign the following form.

Indicating testing to be made public and include copies of the abnormal OFA report(s).

- Hip/Elbow Dysplasia
- Patellar Luxation
- Cardiac
- Thyroid
- Hearing
- Dentition

I hereby request that the information in the OFA databases for the above dog be included in the open database. I understand that this will allow all the results and the animal's identity to be available to the public. I have included copies of my OFA report(s) for verification.
